What's more enjoyable than a leisurely drive to check out many of western Oregon's fine old covered bridges? We met at the Fred Meyer Wilsonville parking lot in time to take in organizer Mike Newby's drivers' meeting at 8:45 AM on October 4. At 9, the first of three groups headed out in a light drizzle - Hey, it's Oregon - so convertible tops were up. The route included a nice mix of fun twisties and seven of Oregon's beautiful historic bridges, several of which we stopped at for photos.

We arrived at Roaring River County Park for a picnic lunch under a pergola. After lunch we headed north toward Mt. Angel with the final stop being the Benedictine Brewery. A great day for all, thanks to Mike's efforts.■
